

University of Missouri Child Development Lab in Columbia, MO was recognized as an Intermediate Missouri Eat Smart childcare center in November 2013. The center celebrated their recognition with the children as they put their gardens “to sleep” for the winter on November 14, 2013. Sarah Gaines, Nutrition Consultant, Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services Bureau of Community Food and Nutrition Assistance (MDHSS-BCFNA), presented a certificate and banner to Christopher Murakami, doctorate student, and the Child Development Lab for their outstanding achievement in implementing the intermediate level of the Eat Smart Guidelines within their menus and environment. MU Child Development Lab accounts for the 50th child care center to be recognized as Missouri Eat Smart.